

I urge you to oppose any restriction on offerings of weather and traffic information by XM Radio. The new weather and traffic offerings provide a valuable service to travelers who may not be familiar with radio stations in an area and would not know where to tune. As I have traveled up and down the east-coast I have found few radio stations that provide weather and traffic information continuously. Most limit traffic information to the morning and evening rush hours and weather is only an adjunct to news broadcasts which occur at best once an hour.
